SEA Prime which, with the Milano Prime brand, is leading business aviation airport manager in Italy and Europe, is an exhibitor at the NBAA's 2022 Schedulers&Dispatchers Conference (S&DC2022). The conference, which represents one of the most important events for business aviation, is back in full swing at the San Diego Convention Centre, from 5 to 7 April.

After a 2021 traffic growth in both airports managed by SEA Prime of +74% compared to 2020 and +11% compared to 2019 - above the Italian and European averages, the first three months of 2022 have also recorded a traffic growth of +60% compared to 2021 and +17% compared to 2019, confirming the responsiveness of Milano Prime and the business aviation sector in the face of constantly changing scenarios

For the future, SEA Prime aims to further develop infrastructures and services in view of the upcoming Milan Cortina Olympics in 2026. Construction has already begun on a new 4,700 m2 hangar at with a BREEAM sustainability rating which will increase to 29,000 m2 the offer of hangar spaces at Milano Prime. The masterplan foresees the construction of other hangars dedicated to business jets in the coming years.

Another challenge we are committed to is that of sustainable growth, a strategic priority for SEA Prime which has long encouraged the use of electric ramp vehicles and organized the first refuelling for the business aviation in Italy of biofuel (SAF) produced by ENI at Linate Prime. A key strategic focus is also on the developments of Urban Air Mobility (UAM) for which SEA Prime is part of a working group with SEA aimed at identifying the business models and leading the infrastructural developments for this new mode of air transportation of the near future.
